ALL ASPECT WARFARE LINE OF DEFENSE

By the end of the 30th century, humanity had conquered space travel and spread into the galaxy. It was a dangerous place. In 2993, Galactic Command was formed by the Terrans, Empirians and Vesperons, and charged with maintaining lawfulness amongst the member nations' territories. But what GALCOM calls order, the Insurgents call oppression.

In a surprise strike, the Insurgents overran the planet Lyrius and its decommissioned GALCOM bases. The planet's proximity to other GALCOM systems made it an ideal target for the Insurgents to use as a base of operations in their fight against the Terran military. The Insurgents' attack caught the GALCOM generals unprepared, but they quickly struck back, fighting to a stalemate in orbit and on the planet as they try to locate and obtain a new super weapon being tested by the Insurgents. It is now 3000AD. The galaxy braces for war and Lyrius has become the first line of defense.
